SEER SEES AREA SPARED

By BETTYE ANDING
New Orleans won't be buffeted by another "Betsy" this year, according to Mrs. Jeane Dixon, nationally recognized Washington seeress.

"I meditated on that on the way down here," said the attractive brunette, "and I got that there won't be a hurricane of any size in this area at least this year."

Mrs. Dixon, the subject of the book, "A Gift of Prophe-cy," by Ruth Montgomery, was interviewed in her hotel suite here this morning. She is in New Orleans to speak at Municipal Auditorium at 8:15 this evening, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Dixon, who foretold the assassination of President Kennedy in 1952, said that after reading about District Attorney Jim Garrison's probe of the case, she "got" that Clay Shaw "had channels with government agencies in Washington."

"And I get that it will be divulged that President Ken-nedy was aware of an attempt to assassinate Castro just prior to his own assassina-tion," she said. "This will have a direct bearing on Gar-rison's entire investigation," she continued. "There are powerful forces with much outside money attempting to discredit Garrison. Mr. Garrison will show that a group of Cubans are involved."

Mrs. Dixon further said that she sees "Gov. Ronald Reagan as a grand man of destiny;"
that Russia is "keeping us try;" that the "racial unrest in the United States is far from over;" and that the "Black Power" and "Hippie" movements are directed by the Communists.

SHE DREW a sharp distinction between the prophecies that she "gets" from meditation and those she terms "revelations direct from God."

She says that she "receives the says the says that she "receives the says the says that she "receives the says the says the says that she "receives the says th vibrations from everyone. Everyone has them — if they didn't they wouldn't be alive."

"But this is mental telepathy," she explained. "What I get from it and from my she explained. "What crystal ball is right, but it can be changed, because people can change their minds."

She said that the visions she receives, however, are "revelations from God and can't be changed."

It is possible for her to misinterpret them however, she said.

Mrs. Dixon said that she be-lieves that she receives such revelations because "God knows that I have great faith and am not ashamed to blurt and am not ashamed to blurt them right out. He knows that I believe strongly."

Mrs. Dixon said that she attends Mass every morning whenever possible. She said that when she can't go "the first thing," she manages to get to church sometime during the day, even when traveling. ing.

"I DON'T REMEMBER becoming aware of this gift of prophecy," she said. "When do you become aware of be-coming alive? With me, this gift is just the usual thing.'

A warm, charming individual, Mrs. Dixon was simply attired in a pale green dress and black hat. She wore a large gold cross set with ame-

Asked if her "talent" ever frightened her, she answered, "Why should it? Does your talent ever frighten you? I am only frightened because people don't understand themselves."
