Yemen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Yemen is a predominantly Arab nation a little smaller than Nebraska, situated at the southwest corner of the Arabian Peninsula at the southern end of the Red Sea.

Its ruling Republican government is allied with Egypt, but a bitter six-year civil war has kept it from taking any active part in the Mideast dispute between Israel and the Arab nations.

Republican forces, backed and armed by the Soviet Union, are at war with Royalists who have been supported by neighboring Saudi Arabia. The Republicans overthrew the monarchy in September 1962.

Yemen's 4.5 million people include coastal inhabitants of mixed Arab and African origin and highlanders of Arab stock.

Golden said the arrests were made jointly by city police and secret service agents after an anonymous tip.

Armed with warrants, they went to the Namers' nest fifth-floor apartment and found the son there. As they were leaving, the father appeared and he was arrested, Golden said.

He said the investigation began in the early afternoon.

Golden commended the New York Daily News for keeping information of the incident secret until the arrests were made.

Golden said his staff was questioning Namer's two nephews, Abdo Zandani, 30, and his brother, Ali, 21.

No charges were placed against the Zandanis.

Golden said his men also seized two switchblade knives, a carving knife in the oriental style, and a brass and mahogany wooden sheath.

At the Miller Avenue police station, detectives described the mustachioed Abdo Namer as "very surly."

The father wore a black fedora, brown striped sweater, a white shirt open at the collar, black trousers and black, shined loafers. He wore a gold ring on his right hand.

His son wore black pants, white shirt open at the collar, brown loafers and a black zippered jacket. He also wore a gold ring.

The father appeared to have a better command of English than his son, police said.

Plot 3rd Lead

NEW YORK AP - A Yemeni father and his son were arrested Saturday night and charged with conspiracy to murder President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

City police and Secret Service agents seized the two men in their neat apartment in Brooklyn's East New York section after an anonymous tip set off an afternoon-long investigation that ended with the arrests about 6:30 p.m.

In the apartment, police said they found an M1 Army rifle and a carbine, 24 .30-caliber shells for the weapons, two switchblade knives and an oriental-style carving knife.

Police said they found the son, mustachioed Abdo Ahmed Namer, 20, at the apartment when they arrived. As they were leaving, the father, Ahmed Ragen Namer, 46, walked in, police said.

Police also questioned two of Namer's nephews but no charges were placed against them.

According to police records, the elder Namer came here 13 years ago from Yemen, a small Arab country in the Mideast, but never took out American citizenship. His son arrived two years ago, police said. They had lived in Rada, a village of 2,500 population in the south of Yemen.

During his presidential campaign, Nixon several times endorsed vigorous American support for Israel in its disputes with Arab countries. He once said that it was important that America help Israel maintain its military superiority in the Middle East.

The conspiracy to murder charge against the Namers is a state charge, not a federal one. They also were charged with criminal solicitation in the first degree and possession of weapons. The solicitation charge involves recruiting others to act, in concert in an illegal act, police said.

However, details of the alleged plot were not disclosed.

Plot 4th Lead

NEW YORK AP - A Yemeni father and two of his sons were arrested Saturday night in connection with an alleged conspiracy to murder President-elect Richard M. Nixon, police said. Elliott Golden, acting district attorney, said at 10:30 p.m. the three men would be charged within 30 minutes with murder conspiracy but he refused to disclose details of the alleged plot or any motive.

City police and Secret Service agents seized the father, Ahmed Rageh Namer, 46, and one son, Abdo Ahmed Namer, 20, about 6:30 p.m. in their tenement apartment in Brooklyn's East New York section.

Authorities said the other son, Hussin, also 20, jumped out a window of the apartment when police arrived. He was finally brought into the Miller Avenue police station in handcuffs at 10:30 p.m.

Police also were questioning two of Namer's nephews at the station house. Golden did not say that charges would be filed against them.

In the apartment, police said they found an M1 Army rifle and a carbine, 24 .30-caliber shells for the weapons, two switchblade knives and an oriental-style carving knife.

An aide to Nixon said the president-elect "has been informed" of the arrests at his vacation retreat in Key Biscayne, Fla. "It's in the hands of the police, and he Nixon has no concern over it," the aide said.

"We've talked about this before," the aide said. "We talked about it right after the Kennedy assassination. Mr. Nixon has a tremendous amount of faith in the Secret Service and in the police."

"Any idea of a major plot is overexaggerated. You can't be concerned about it every time something like this happens."

Police headquarters had said Namer and his son, Abdo, had already been charged. That was later learned to be incorrect, however.

Plot 5th Lead

NEW YORK AP - An Arab father and two of his sons were arrested Saturday night in connection with an alleged conspiracy to murder President-elect Richard M. Nixon, police said.

Acting Dist. Atty. Elliott Golden said the three men, natives of the Yemen, would be charged with murder conspiracy but he refused to disclose details of the alleged plot or any motive.

"We have those who we were initially looking for," Golden said. "The investigation is continuing. Only time will tell whether there will be others arrested."

At least four other men were questioned in the alleged plot. Two of them were released after several hours and two others remained under questioning, authorities said.

Herbert Klein, a Nixon aide, played down the extent of the incident. "Any idea of a major plot is overexaggerated," he said.

Seized by city police and Secret Service agents were Ahmed Ragen Namer, 46, and his sons, Abdo Ahmed Namer, and Hussin Namer, both 20. The three lived in the East New York section of Brooklyn and had come here from the Yemen, an Arab country in the Middle East.

The Daily News said the investigation started with a phone tip to police Friday night by a man who said he was an expert marksman. He told police three Middle Easterners had tried to recruit him to their plan and had promised him a great deal of money, the News said.

The informant, who was questioned by the police after they traced his telephone call to a Brooklyn bar, was placed under protective custody, the News said.

The News account related that the informant said the Middle Easterners told him the plot was not a one-man operation and he believed they had recruited other marksmen.

The informant said, according to the News, that right after the abduction, he had accompanied the three to their Brooklyn apartment, where they showed him two automatic weapons and an M1 rifle, all equipped with sniper scopes.

The News said he stalled the trio and then decided that the plot was something that should be exposed.

The informant was questioned by police detectives and Secret Service agents and finally Saturday they decided to move in, the News said.

Police found Abdo Ahmed Namer in the apartment and, as they were leaving, the father walked in. Authorities said Hussin saw them coming and escaped out a window. He was arrested several hours later across the street from the tenement building, police said.
