

Denise Bourdet, Pacifica Washington Bureau:

"After all, as Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell said,

"The public has nothing to fear from electronic surveillance, as long as the public is careful."

[There was no indication that this was a direct quotation of statement by Powell, and no date was given.]