

.....

Henry A. Kissinger ... pleaded for public understanding in the Watergate revelations. He told the annual Associated Press luncheon in New York that it was difficult "to avoid a sense of the awfulness of events and the tragedy that has befallen people alleged to have done these things for whatever reasons."

.....