Mail Overwhelmingly Against Senate Approval of Kissinger

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — While Henry A. Kissinger's nomination as Secretary of State has aroused little opposition in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, mail from the public received by the committee in the last week has been overwhelmingly against Senate approval of Mr. Kissinger.

A committee staff member said that about 500 "anticonfirmation" letters had been received in the last seven days compared with 10 messages supporting the nomination of Mr. Kissinger, who concluded a three-day appearance before the committee today.

The staff member described most of the letters as "responsible" but said that some "hate" and "nut" mail had been received.

The staff member added that opposition was being raised by both "right-wingers and liberals." He said, "we're getting both ends of the political spectrum and all the way through it."

Winslow Wheeler, an aide to Senator Jacob K. Javits, Republican of New York, said that the Senator's office had received about 100 letters and telephone calls opposing Mr. Kissinger "for a wide variety of reasons."

About a third of the protests were "plainly anti-Semitic," according to Mr. Wheeler. Other opposition, he said, came from critics of Mr. Kissinger's German birth—"They do not regard him as a true-blue American."

In addition to letters from antiwar activists blaming Mr. Kissinger for the continuation of the Vietnam war, Mr. Wheeler said a "significant portion" of opposition came from "conservative types" who accused Mr. Kissinger of "collusion with the Communists" because of his visits to China and the Soviet Union.

The Liberty Lobby, an extreme right-wing organization, has asked to testify later this week on the nomination. Robert Bartell, a spokesman for the group, said that it would oppose Mr. Kissinger. In all, 15 individuals and organizations have asked to testify.

Saul H. Mendlovitz, a member of the Committee of Concerned Scholars for a Just World Order, has also requested an appearance before the committee.

Professor Mendlovitz, who teaches international law at Rutgers Law School, said Mr. Kissinger should not be confirmed because of his involvement in the Vietnam war and his advocacy of a five-power world that would deny half of the world's population the right to participate in international decisions.
