In Washington Ron Ziegler and Herbert Klein, the two chief spokesmen for the Administration, blamed McGovern supporters for the disruptions at Republican political events, and said Senator McGovern should denounce such tactics.

Referring to the incidents in San Diego and at Boston when Pat Nixon attended a Republican fund-raising dinner, Mr. Ziegler said it was "quite evident" to him that the disruptions were "obviously staged by McGovern people." He said, "I just hope the opposition would instruct their people - as we have - that this type of action must not take place."
