

Here Today Gone Today

Words-of-one-syllable dept. (via UPI from Sacramento this week): "Reagan ran unsuccessfully for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1968 and close political friends are urging him to do so again in 1976."

★ ★ ★

CAENFETTI: As for the unidentified flying object shuttling between here and Washington, that isn't Superguv or Superman but Supersnoop Hal Lipset. Sen. Sam Ervin, head of the Senate Select Committee digging into the Watergate smeller and other GOpeccadilloes, has hired Lipset as chief investigator ... Next Thurs., Butterfield & Butterfield will auction what is described as "the private collection of a West African Princess," which includes lots of fertility fetishes, if that's your problem. The Princess, now in town, is from Mali, doesn't want her name used, will give the receipts to Mali schools, and that's all I can dig up without sticking pins into my voodoo doll ... The Willis Polk-designed Bourn mansion on Webster, shrouded in red brick and controversy, has been bought by Real Estate Douglas for $191,000, and if he gets it from Silly Hall, he'll chop up the place into apartments but retain the name. ... rah and Dick Fiori ... as. insist ... Others