IS BEING ABOLISHE

was first disclosed publicly in believed that its continued a written statement by Presi-operation would benefit the dent Nixon released last week. Government. The President said that the JUN 1 1973

Justice Aide Drafts Order to End Interagency Panel NYTIMES

By JOHN M. CREWDSON

Special to The New York Times
WASHINGTON, May 30—The Nixon Administration is quietly dismantling the Intelligence Evaluation Committee, the super-secret body created by President Nixon in an attempt organization, made up of representatives from the White House, the Central Intelligence the National Security Agency and the Departments of TreasInvestigation and other agencies, had been established in late 1970 to "help remedy" the difficulties that resulted when J. Edgar Hoover, the late F.B.I. director, ended the bureau's relations with all Government action in moving to abolish the unit would not meet with the displeasure of his superiors at the Justice Department.

A department spokesman maintained today that the comorganization, made up of rep-include, in adition to the Justice

Evaluation Committee, the super-secret body created by President Nixon in an attempt to strengthen relations among the Federal Government's intelligence-gathering agencies, Justice Department officials said Wednesday.

The officials said that Henry E. Peterson, the head of the department's Criminal Division, had prepared an order that would abolish the committee after discovering little sentiment elsewhere in the Government of intelligence functions on its own, but had rather after discovering little sentiment for retaining it.

The officials said that Mr. Petersen, who was directing the officials said that Mr. The officials said that Mr. Petersen, who was directing the officials and that Mr. The officials said that Mr. Petersen, who was directing the officials until the Justice Department. A department spokesman maintained today that the committee had "never been an operational unit" in the sense of engaging in intelligence functions on its own, but had rather served as a clearing house for data gathered by its member agencies.

Other officials adde later that the committee's relatively small staff, which is housed in the the until the functions of the Justice Department. A department spokesman maintained today that the committee had "never been an operational unit" in the sense of engaging in intelligence functions on its own, but had rather served as a clearing house for data gathered by its member agencies.

Other officials adde later that the committee's relatively small staff, which is housed in the proposition of the committee's operations and finding agencies.

Petersen who was directing the Justice Department. A department spokesman maintained today that the committee ongaging in intelligence functions on its own, but had rather served as a clearing house for data gathered by its member agencies.

Other officials adde later that the committee only agencies.

Other officials adde later that the committee only agencies.

Other officials adde later that the committee only agencies.

Other officials adde l

The other agencies, which