ulor's Note in Bot ixon Finds So

By Frances Lewine KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. May 20 (AP)—"To whom it may concern," began the water-stained note in the bottle. "I had nothing to do so I'm writing you."

The "you" turned out to be none other than President Nixon, and the seaborne message, written in a youthful scrawl, concerned him very much. It was from a sailor who asked that the finder of the bottle contact his grandparents. So the President of the United States duly followed instructions. tions.

It began March 23, when 18-year-old Larry Metivier and a buddy were aboard the USS Guam en route from Norfolk to Jackson-ville. They were on watch. They also were bored.

"He threw a bottle overboard, so I decided to do it as well," Metivier said to-day. "I never expected to hear anyone had found that bottle for about 10 years."

But the green-tinted bot-tle found its way to Grand Cay, an island in the Baha-mas. It was there that Mr. Nixon found it on Mermaid Beach while taking a stroll Saturday with friends C.G. (Bebe) Rebozo and Robert owner. The White House checked out the letter, written on blue-lined notebook paper, and found that its author was an airman apprentice with a Navy helicopter squadron stationed at Jacksonville.

Abplanalp, Grand

". . .Please write to this address if you found it," the letter said: Instead of writing, the President decided to telephone Larry Metivier's grandfather, William L.

Staples of Havertown, Pa.
Mr. Nixon told Staples in the Sunday night call that he had found the message, a disclosure that left the Cay's grandfather somewhat nongrandiather somewhat nonplussed.

'He's a good boy-he's a fine boy 'the White House quoted Staries as saying
'He didn't do anything wrong did h?

Staples we quickly assured that his grandson had not done an thing wrong, a White House mokesman
said. The nation's commander in the ration's commander in t