Two-Thirds in Poll Back Impeachment of Nixon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (Reuters)—Two-thirds of the American people believe that President Nixon should be impeached over Watergate scandals and tried in the Senate, according to the latest Louis Harris Poll.

The poll, which was completed on Friday, found the public voting 68 to 27 per cent in favor of impeachment.

The pro-impeachment total was 13 percentage points over the figure before the House Judiciary Committee recommended the President's impeachment on three charges.
