

Notes on People

Chairman Mao Tse-tung met Julie and David Eisenhower yesterday and was greeted on behalf of two former American Presidential families. The couple, in turn, were instructed to convey the Chinese leader's "regards" to her father, Richard M. Nixon, and assure him that he was "welcome to revisit China." According to Peking's official news agency, Mrs. Eisenhower said that she was honored to bring her father's greetings and regards to the 82-year-old Chinese leader, and that her parents were "deeply impressed" with their visit to China in 1972.

"David extended greetings to Chairman Mao on behalf of his family," the agency said, adding that a "cordial and friendly" conversation followed.
