

10 a.m. news

Announcer -- President Nixon and radical activist Angela Davis may be sought for guest professorships on the Stanford campus. Andrea Halliday (phon) who is a member of the student guest professorship board says letters of inquiry have been sent to Mr. Nixon and Miss Davis.

Halliday (voice) -- We can get people here who other departments of the University (garbled) ... match funds. We may be able to bring more than one person, spring quarter. Say, say two or three.

Announcer -- Miss Halliday says she doubts Mr. Nixon would accept if and when the offer is made, but adds she believes they have a good chance of getting Angela Davis.

[End item]

---jdw/11jan76---