"Born Again," former Nixon political operative Charles Colson's autobiography of his Christian conversion, will be produced as a film by Robert L. Munger, originator of "The Omen." Munger, president of Robert L. Munger Productions, announced here yesterday that the new film will be a "major motion picture with a budget of $3 to $5 million." A production start is planned by fall.

Asked who he would like to play his part, Colson demurred. "When I told my children my top four choices, they informed me they had been dead for years. I don't have time to go to movies," he said. Colson's book, written against the backdrop of Watergate, has sold 400,000 copies since its release last February.

Both Munger and Walter Bloch, who will write the screenplay, said yesterday they are also "born-again" Christians. "We're going to put the Lord Jesus Christ in the market place of this world," Bloch declared.

New members who will be inducted this spring to the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters include outstanding creative writer Robert Anderson, Charles Eames, Abraham Lincoln, Robert
