

6/28/71 Dear Js, the clippings I include are not for return unless I should so indicate. When I am too busy to read the papers and Lil does, she clips from them what she think's I'll want or what she thinks may amuse me or have other values. Because I do not know whether or not they appear out there and because they may be of interest, instead of throwing them away, I may send them... Little new here. Lil is making excellent recovery, has been off of crutches for some time, and is not completely dependant upon cane. Preparing to file more suits, so I've had to suspend writing for a while. Four chapters AGENT OSWALD retyped, fifth mostly written. As of this moment, no Supreme Court decision Times/Post cases. They missed a major point, I think, in ingoring the legislative history and intent in the Freedom of Information Act, and in some of the decisions I have... While the net refuses to air me or anything about me as a matter of policy, one of NBC's editors asked their Washington counsel (staff) to see me last week, to see if there were any way in which he could help with my suits. Pretty nice, but that lawyer is unfamiliar with the law. I loaned him some things on it. I find myself wondering if the current flap has the possibility of overcoming these policy decisions on the assassination and my work as "news". Best, HW
