9/22 Many thanks for cords, which came today. My experience with local shops is such I'll try and have radio amateur attach my mikes. Because I expect visit from Jerry Ray soon, this is very timely....Today's Wash Post has excellent story from S.F. stringer in on Jackson autopsy. I hope you can save local coverage. This could, with attention I have already attempted to arrange, lead to major breakthrough. Wish I could see full text proctocol...Local sale on yarn tomorrow, je, to which I hope to take Lil...I'm into rereading and correcting PM I, but with all interruptions it goes slowly. I do have some possibility of private printing, and the newest part is, I think, what we've been needing....In return for a serious if typographical defamation compounded by an over-hasty "correction" the Wash Post has offered me 1,000 words of an editorial article. It has been so long since I restricted myself to what to me now seems like so few words and I'm in such a rush, I can only hope that what "il is now retyping is okay and suitable. But even the offer is a real development. Again thanks, HW
