

3/7-Got to about 60 this a.m. so I went outside to liberate some trees from honeysuckle and trim out some that are down. Intermittently I heard "news" and intermittently, what I heard registered. Somebody is really uptight about this ITT thing because too many things that can't, have happened. This Dr. Liska is ~~going~~ ^{MAK}going to get offed, and I doubt he'll be happy about he. He seems to have breached any concept of medical wthics, any of the confidential relations between doctor and patient, and in the doing he has certainly made a problem at the very least for the medical assn. Or more than one, local and national...The thing I have been looking for I have not yet seen, a demo on the committee with a real pol's gut instinct. One of them should have the taste of blood in the mouth. And should be asking very obvious questions, at or outside committee meetings. Imagine their silence after what the doctor says adds up to ITT having as one of its top Wash people and chief lobbyist a person who has been irrational for four years! Man, somebody out to own an ITT share for the next stockholder's meeting! But the way it looks now, if anybody breaks it, it will be Anderson, if he takes affront, as he should, at what amounts to an attack on his accuracy and integrity. Won't know, if then, until tonight, when I see the other tricky dick on evening TV news, but once I heard Kleindienst's voice in a denial that led me to believe his cool is close to leaving. He has a low boiling point, I'm sure, and it is astounding that nobody of the other party has seen the opportunity if for no other reason because quietly but openly the Adm. has been making exactly this into a campaign issue, crookedness. "Remember I made a few comments on that re Garrison? Two new judges, both Demos, near Chicago, have been indicted. It will kept up. And here, in one great vesuvius, it can erupt, and there is none with the gutzs or the ability. H
