

Dear Js, if in time pressure you have not read reports of Blackmun's yesterday's address to the ABA, I think it worth the time, partly because of what he said and partly because, from the WxPost account, I can't be sure what he meant. I do not expect the same kind of tone from the NixonBurger in his scheduled appearance today. I do also feel that those who consider themselves real conservatives are in some innér as well a collective disarray...Haven't read other stories yet today, not heard news. Began writing early, until I took Lil into town and got home in time for Dullsville. There will have to be a big change this pm. for the proof of a fix not to be overwhleming. Hy the way, I understóod Inoye to be referring to a particular series of three articles on the DHunt crash. If so, I haven't even heard of them.
