

JDW: There is a major China play in today's WxPost. I've cut it intact rather than by story so you can see the play and decide for yourself if the play has meaning. There is also the editorial (G Sec.) article. And on ^{one} Japanese students. There is enough by volume to start another 3cl mailing.... Lardner's long-delayed piece on Lane, rather little on Fauntroy, is in today's paper, too. Modest to ~~is~~ say less than the least. Surprisingly modest. ...I can't reconcile the reporting of Lane's claim to having only three suits and a $500 bank account with the omission of the six-figure advance on this King ripoff. The result is to say that Lane gives it all away, which would be quite a day. None of the kids will have doubts because they don't know him. When they do they get out. ... I'm to get the Balt. Sun stories. If they seem worth your time I'll send copies. They'll probably be in tomorrow's mail. I know AP's A wire was used out there but I do not need it, thanks. I may get it anyway, so don't you take the time. That expert has an ingenious theory but I believe it isn't so. There was no reason for the Secret Service to be firing in that direction, none of hundreds of witnesses reported anything like this and I doubt any of the agents was armed with the kind of weapon theorized. I also doubt the Sun will accept my offer to join in the spectro suit. ... Hope Je is coming along well and that the unsettling effects of the treatment have subsided. est, HW 5/15/77
