

Dear Jim, When I was in Washington today I checked fares, etc. When I am in Dallas and have paid for a ticket home I have paid almost half of what it will cost me to go on to Calif before returning home. I have to go to Dallas. There are efforts I should make in L.A. People at a black-oriented station have been making noises like they want to talk to me. If they make more than noise I'll have little extra fare. Once I'm there the cost of a trip to S.F. is slight and the fare home is the same. SO, I have in mind going there just to say hello, shake hands and spend a little time together. I have nothing ~~xxxx~~ else in mind for S.F., only Je and you. Maybe a call to say hello to Harve Morgan if he is still there. While this is not certain, I do want to do it. If there is any reason I should not please let me know so I can plan otherwise. The last time I was out there I could not keep my eyes open. I don't know when the next time can be. Best, HW 5/27/77
