

Sketches of Defendants and Alleged Co-Conspirators

Following are sketches of those indicted in connection with an alleged plot to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, assistant to the President, and to blow up heating systems in Federal buildings, and of those listed as co-conspirators but not indicted, as compiled by The Associated Press and The New York Times:

The Defendants

The Rev. Philip F. Berrigan, 47 years old, a pacifist priest, is now serving a three-and-a-half-year prison sentence in the Federal prison at Danbury, Conn., for destruction of Selective Service records in Catonsville, Md., in 1968. He was also convicted in a 1967 raid by pacifists in which blood was poured on draft files in Baltimore and was sentenced to six years on that charge. He was to have surrendered April 8, 1970, to begin his sentence, after losing appeals to higher courts. He did not surrender and was arrested as a fugitive April 21 by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Eqbal Ahmad, 40, of Chicago, is a fellow of the Adlai Stevenson Institute for International Affairs at the University of Chicago. A citizen of Pakistan, Mr. Ahmad holds a doctorate from Princeton University and has been at the institute for more than a year, working in the field of social change and international relations. He has written a number of articles on revolutionary and guerrilla movements and government responses to them. His wife, Julie, is a teacher. They have no children. Friends say that they were married by the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, brother of Father Philip F. Berrigan, in Connecticut. His father, a Pakistani official, was assassinated when Mr. Ahmad was a child.

The Rev. Neil Raymond McLaughlin, 30, a Roman Catholic priest, had been assigned to St. Martin's parish, in a black area of West Baltimore. He was ordered to leave his assignment last February after he admitted tampering with draft records in 1969. While awaiting a new assignment, he received $242 monthly income from the archdiocese and took odd jobs to add to his income.

The Rev. Joseph Reese Wenderoth, 35, a Roman Catholic priest in the Baltimore Archdiocese. He was ordained seven years ago. He was assistant pastor at St. Vincent de Paul Church in Baltimore until last February, when he was relieved of his duties after admitting tampering with draft records.

Rev. Joseph R. Wenderoth

He was ordered to the same house with Father McLaughlin awaiting reassignment. He has publicly said that he was a member of the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives, but he said that the Berrigan brothers were not members and denied that the conspiracy was planning a bombing or kidnapping.

Sister Elizabeth McAlister, 31, is a Roman Catholic nun serving at Marymount College in Tarrytown, N. Y. She was born Maureen McAlister and was raised in Montclair, N. J., where her brother, Robert, still lives. She has been a member of the Sacred Heart of Mary order for more than 11 years and lives in a convent in New York City.

Anthony Scoblick, 30, is a former Josephite priest in the Baltimore Roman Catholic Archdiocese and son of former United States Representative James P. Scoblick of Archbald, Pa., now hospitalized at Sayre, Pa. The younger Mr. Scoblick is married to a former nun in the Order of Notre Dame de Nemours. Agents of the F.B.I. interrupted his marriage last July in the search for Father Daniel Berrigan, although Mr. Scoblick had said he had met the then-fugitive priest only once.

Alleged Co-Conspirators

The Rev. Daniel Berrigan, 49, is a Jesuit, a poet and the author of a number of books, and like his brother, Father Philip Berrigan, is serving a prison sentence in the same jail and for the same offense. The brothers are the youngest of six sons of the late Thomas Berrigan, who was a militant Socialist.

Paul Mayer, 40, of Edgewater, N. J., is a former priest. He was a refugee from Nazi Germany who converted to Catholicism and was ordained a priest. However he married in 1968 and is the father of an 18-month-old son. A friend of the Berrigans, he sees the indictments as foreshadowing an attack on the moderate center of the peace movement in an attempt to suppress dissent.

Sister Elizabeth McAlister

William C. Davidson, 43, is chairman of the physics department of Haverford College, a Quaker institution in Haverford, Pa. He has been arrested twice in antiwar demonstrations. In 1966, he was one of six American pacifists who were expelled from South Vietnam for demonstrating against the war in Saigon.

Associated Press
Anthony Scoblick

Sister Jogues Egan, 52, is a member of the Religious Order of the Sacred Heart of Mary. She lives with other members of the teaching order in an old four-story townhouse at 137 West 85th Street. A spokesman said there yesterday that Sister Jogues "is in Harrisburg testifying before a grand jury."

Sister Beverly Bell, 43, and

in Plot Case

Associated Press
Rev. Neil R. McLaughlin

Sister Marjorie A. Shuman, 47, are both listed by the Justice Department as living in Washington at 1529 Corcoran Street, N.W. However, a woman at that address said yesterday that neither of the two lived there.

Thomas Davidson, 25, is listed by the Justice Department as living in Washington at 305 Maryland Avenue, N.E., but neighbors said he had not lived there for some time.