FORD NAMES ROCKEFELLER TOHEAD INQUIRY INTO C.I.A.; WANTS REPORT IN 90 DAYS

Members of Panel

Vice President Rockefeller

C. Douglas
Dillon
Ex-Treasury
Secretary; now chairman of a banking firm.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer Was Chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff; NATO

John T.
Connor
Was Commerce
Secretary; now
chairman of Allied Chemical.

Ronald Reagan Former Governor of California

Erwin N.
Griswold
Was Solicitor
General; now in private practice.

Edgar F.
Shannon Jr.
Served 15 years
as president of the University of Virginia.

Joseph Lane Kirkland Secretary Treasurer of the A.F.L.-C.I.O.

Photographs by Associated Press, United Press International and The New York Times

Leaders in Congress Say Own Hearings Will Go On

By HAROLD M. SCHMECK Jr.

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5-Con-subcommittee, he said. gressional leaders made it clear gence Agency would not keep after next. Congress from inquiring into States would continue.

Senator Hugh Scott of Pennpanel's report was filed.

to continue its own investiga- could have been abuses.' tion," Mr. Scott said.

Nedzi, Democrat of Michigan, mission, calling it "truly blue is chairman of the Intelligence ribbon." Subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee. He without personal axes to grind said today that his subcommit-tee would investigate charges tation," he said. that the C.I.A. had spied on Americans. The appointment of the President's panel will "defithe President's panel will "defi-

The Represenative said the today that President Ford's ap-subcommittee would hold hearpointment of a commission to ings as soon as the Congress investigate alleged domestic ac-becomes officially organized, tivities by the Central Intelli- perhaps as early as the week

Senator John C. Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, could Prominent members of both not be reached for comment. major parties said that Congres- He is chairman of the Senate sional investigations of alleged Armed Services Committee and illegal spying within the United is Central Intelligence Subcommittee.

Senator Scott, who is a memsylvania, the Senate Republican ber of the subcommittee, made leader, said he expected Con- i clear that the Republican leadgressional inquiries to go on ership would not try to post-long after the Presidential pone the investigation. Speakinel's report was filed. ing on the CBS television pro-"I believe it is necessary for gram "Issues and Answers" the Congressional committees, this afternoon, he said that the the Nedzi subcommittee in the charter of the Central Intel-House, the Stennis Armed Serv-ligence Agency in 1947 was so ices Committee in the Senate, broad "that one suspects there

Senator Scott praised the Representative Lucien N. President's choices for the com-

"These are distinguished men

Some other members of Con-

nitely not" stop action by the Continued on Page 19, Column 1

Continued From Page 1, Col. 7

Democrat of Wisconsin, said in a telephone interview that the choice of ice President Rockedeller as commission chairman 'leaves something to be desired."

Mr. Proxmire noted that Mr. Rockefeller had served for five years on the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. The Senator also emphasized what he felt was the need for a Congressional investigation.

When the agency has encountered trouble or controversy in the past, he said, there has been a flurry of response that soon died down.

Special Prosecutor

Special Prosecutor

This time, the Senator declared, there should be congressional investigation independent of the White House. He said this should probably include a blue ribbon panel of Congress and perhaps a special prosecutor analogous to those who investigated the Watergate cover-up.

Senator Howard H. Baker, Jr., who was vice chairman of Senator Howard H. Baker, Jr., who was vice chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, commended President Ford for creating the commission.

The Tennessee Republican said he was sure it would do a thorough job, but he added that the commission's actions would not reduce the need for independent Congressional action.

He maintained that there should be either a Senate select committee or a Senate-House committee to investigate charges of abuses by the intelligence agency.

Senators Baker and Proxmire both said they regretted the commission's lack of subpoena commission's lack of subpoena power, but predicted that the Congress would give it to the President requested it.

Senator Lowell P. Weicker Jr., Republican of Connecticut, said the prime need was for continued congressional overcontinuing congressional oversight of United States intelligence activity. He and Senator Baker have introduced legislation to establish a special joint committee for that purpose. Jurisdiction at present is diffused among committees of both houses, Senator Weicker said.

er said.
Speaking on NBC's "Meet the Speaking on NBC's "Meet the Press' program, Representative John Brademas, Democrat of Indiana, said past Congressional oversight of the intelligence agency had been lax.

Mr. Nedzi, of the House intelligence subcommittee, contended that Congressional oversight had improved vastly within the last two years. He within the last two years. He expressed doubts that an adequate review of the intelligence agency's activities could be made in the three months aliotted t othe President's commission mission.

On the general need for investigation, he said he wel-comed ideas from any quarter. "My position is there's

"My position is there's enough controversy here to go around," he said.