Infiltration of Saigon Regime by Communists Is

According to the indictment read by the prosecution today, Mr. Trong had frequent meetings with Mr. Nha in which he passed along "information classified as state secrets."

Statement Is Read
The information allegedly concerned relations between the American to the indictment read by the prosecution today, Mr. Trong had frequent meetings with Mr. Nha in which he passed along "information classified as state secrets."

Statement Is Read
The information allegedly concerned relations between the American to the American to the indictment read by the prosecution today, Mr. Trong had frequent meetings with Mr. Nha in which he passed along "information classified as state secrets."

Statement Is Read
The information allegedly concerned relations between the American to the American to the indictment read by the prosecution today, Mr. Trong had frequent meetings with Mr. Nha in which he passed along "information classified as state secrets."

Statement Is Read
The information allegedly concerned relations is the indictment read by the prosecution today, Mr. Trong had frequent meetings with Mr. Nha in which he passed along "information classified as state secrets."

Statement Is Read
The information allegedly concerned relations is the indictment read by the prosecution today, Mr. Trong had frequent meetings with Mr. Nha in which he passed along "information classified as state secrets."

work here.

dential information to the Viet-concerned relations between the American and South Viet-annese Governments, some unhe had been a member of the Specified matters discussed at Communist party since 1949 and was ordered in 1955 to infiltrate South Vietnam to less ablish an intelligence net-swork here. talks.

By TERENCE SMITH

Special to The New York Times

SAIGON, South Vietnam, Nov. 28—An extensive Communist spyring involving ranking members of the South Vietnamese Government was described in testimony today in the opening session of the biggest espionage trial in this country's history.

In that position, which carries the rank of Deputy Minister, Mr. Trong carried out a number of missions at President Thieu's request—including a former special assistant to President Nguyen Van Thieu
land several senior civil servlants, are charged with crimes franging from high treason to franging from high treason to franging from high treason to franctivities detrimental to the national security.

One of the principal defendants, Vu Ngov Nha, a man with influential political connections who, according to the testimonv, frequently visited Presmonv, frequently visited Presmines special assistant to the said his principa, source of inside information during the hast two years had been the principal defendant in the trial, Huynh Van Trong, who acknowledged that he had received this and other informaton from Mr. Trong, as well as additional information from other sources, and passed it along to the Vietcong.

The other information alnetwork the New York Times

According to the indictment
Nov. 28—An extensive Communists.

In that position, which carrice the rank of Deputy Minisare resident Thieu to former special assistant to President Nieus to rank of promover of missions at President Thieu's request incipal defendant you not the vietcong.

The other information from the New York Times

According to the vietcong.

The other information from
the New York Times

According to the indict the principal defendand several senior civil servseries the rank of Deputy Ministhe resident Thieu to were said to have been found in his home.

Asked why he had failed to report him, Mr. Trong first said he was waiting to gather additional evidence. Later he said In a brief statement before he had held back because of the five-man military tribunal, what he described as the "close,

Huynh Van Trong, former aide to President Thieu for political affairs, being taken into court in Saigon yesterday.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1969

Described as Spy Trial Opens

good and personal relationship" between the President and cerbetween Mr. Nha and President tain politically active Catholic Thieu. "They appeared to be on such familiar terms," he said, "that I felt I did not have the right to interfere in the rethe right to interfere in the re-lationship."

Mr. Trong testified that on

mr. It is that the transfer of the transfer of "The relationship was really close," Mr. Trong said. "I would say that of every 10 times I came to see the President, Nha would be there six times."

No comment was available tonight from Mr. Thieu or his spokesmen. But South Vietnamese sources familiar with the which administers a program to

Of the 43 defendants, 12, including Mr. ..Trong and Mr. Nha, are charged with high treason, which carries the death penalty. Eight others are accused of being "accomplices" to high treason, five are charged with maintaining "liaison with the enemy," and the remaining 18 face the lesser charge of "activities detrimental to national security." Of the 43 defendants, 12, inmese sources familiar with the President's staff were skeptical about Mr. Nha's role as described by Mr. Trong.

They reported that Mr. Nha messmen are also on trial. This had merely served as a contact teep of the accused are women. had merely served as a contact teen of the accused are women.