Negotiators Meet 5 Hours at Panmunjom on Pueblo

By PETER GROSE

Skeads The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19

United States and NOTTh Korean negotiators discussed the Pueblo

0 deadlock for nearly five

Normas at Pannunjon today, the

was the longest meeting in al.

Decining comment on the size Department announced. It was the longest meeting in al.

Decining comment on the

bit agreement to release the tates sciencials gave indications that system of the electronic but not yet finally concluded.

This was the 27th time the Size Department of the queblo, and in fact violated press intermation information providue distations in the center of the Pueblo, and in fact violated press intermation information providue distations in the center of the Pueblo had in fact violated press intermation is spring for clarification. "Level finally concluded."

This was the 27th time the seid that the framilies of the aver the draft of violated press intermation information providue distation strence were information in the very time that the prisoner were information or the source were information or the source the draft violated in the the prisoner were information in the source to the pueblo, and in fact violated press intermating in the source in the providue disting is transition in the source in the source in the providue disting is transition in the prisonery were indeasoft the the prisonery were indeasoft the at latest meeting. At the same time, the Admin-At the same time, the Admin-istration strove to dampen spec-ulation that North Korea had finally agreed to hand back the prisoners, or that a settlement was all wrapped up. If agreement in principle has been reached, as stated in news reports from here and Seoul, South Korea, details remain to