A Q341414 LA 19 FEB 69 lbyllbyl 1002 18PS URGENT Pueblo Lead
By RICHARD E. MEYER
AGSSOCIATED PORESS Writer
CORONADO, Calif. AP - Shaking with sobs and lasping for breath, the youngest officer on the USS Pueblo said today he wanted to kill himself in a North Korean prison, couldn't do it, and finally over a four-month period killed a plant his captors had given him instead. Freckle-faced Lt. j.g. Timoth wharris, 23, had to leave a court of inquiry into the conduct of the Pueblo crew during its 11-month imprisonment because of his uncontrolled crying.

*I just want to apologize to the court for breaking down; that's all ', Harris told the five admirals on the bench after he returned.

*No apology is required, ', said Vice Adm. Harold G. Bowen Jr., esident of the court. Harris broke dow under questioning from another member of the court, Rea Adm. Allan Bergner, who asked: "Afte phase of the captivity, what was your mental attitude?'' Extreme hatred for the Koreans,' Harris replied, his voice zelinning to shake.

At that time the only thing that I wished . .'
He buried his head in his hands, looked down at the witness table, drummed his fingers, wiped his eyes and his mouth, folded his hands and gritted his teeth.

Well . .' he muttered.

Could I rephrase my question?' Bergner said. After the initial phase did you get stronger in you resistance?' the initial resistance? 99 Yes sir Harris blurtee, breaking into sobs, gasping, and burying his face in his hands again. More fh945aps Feb. 19 A127 LA

lbylee LA

CORONADO, Calif.—Pueblo Lead A122LA add; again.

"I withdraw the question," Bergner said.

"Let's wait a moment here," said Bowen.

"" Here and the ski Attorney E. Miles Harvey, representing the skipper of the Pueblo, rose and placee a hand on Harris' shoulder. The young lieutenant raised his head and the two walked outside the courtroom into raised his head and the two walked dustices at down at the drizzling rain.

They returned after about a minute. Harris sat down at the table and said: "I want to go back to the question . . . what I wanted to do was take my life. I couldn't do it."

He broke into more sobbing and drummed a pencil on the tabletop.

"I was hoping that eventually they would bomb us."

whe gripped the pencil with both hands like a baseball bat, reached into his back pocket, pulled out a handkerchief and wiped his eyes.

"Was there a plant in the room?", Harvey asked.

w?" killed it," Harris replied.

"I uri ated on it. I had an extreme hatred for everything there and when they gave me this damn plant it took me four months but I finally killed it."

ris and Lt. j.g. Frederick Schumacher testified Tuesday that in a long, dark room at a jail they called "the barn," the six officers of the Pueblo broke the U.S. Code of Conduct for prisoners the first day after their capture and without being tortured.

The officers violated the code by revealing their acbs on the intelligence ship. Harris and Schumacher said. They included themselves as violators.

The two lieutenants said they later falsely confessed to spying and invading North Korean territorial waters—but only after beatings and death threats.

Their skipperi 5th coaf 1059 Their skipper: 5th graf A058 fh1002aps Feb. 19