Although it was first put into motion two years ago, he said, the Chilean government did not discover it until six weeks before the coup that ousted Allende and led to his death.

Until now the CIA, White House and State Department have steadfastly denied any U.S. involvement in the Chilean coup.

U.S. intelligence sources said Wednesday that a plan such as the one described by Vigorena was being distrib-uted in Latin Americaby the American named Zander.

"This guy was selling a cock-and-bull fabrication," said one Government official. "He is a fugitive from justice."

At a hearing yesterday the House foreign affairs inter-american affairs subcom mittee, Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American fairs Jack B. Kubisch testified yesterday he understood the Centaur plan "was a spurious document."

said he would Kubisch prefer to discuss the plan with the subcommittee in executive session but he tesitifed publicly that he understood there "was an individual in Mexico who claimed he had a dcument" showing that CIA was involved in the coup. Earlier this week State Department officials said the only informa-tion they had on the Centaur plan had come from U.S. intelligence sources, presumably the CIA.

> The Centaur affair is laden with potential embarrassment for the administration, in the vew of some officials, unless it can be conclusively estab-lished as a hoax. "What's at stake here is credibility," said one government officer.

Last March the CIA knowledged, in Senate For-eign Relations Committee hearings, tht it sought to promote economic distress in Chile during 1970 in an effort to prevent Allende's election. The testimony was given by William V. Broe, at the time the CIA's chief of clandestine services for Latin America.

It is for that reason the CIA is now vulnerable to public suspicions of intervention in the upheaval that ousted Allende from office last week and led to his death.

Officially the CIA has no comment on the Vigorena alle-
