Mrs. Ford, who was scheduled to accompany the Presi-dent, will not do so because of recurring back problem, Nessen announced

She has had periodic attacks of osteo-arthritis for a number of years but no difficulties in the past year and a half until two days ago, Nessen said. Dr. William Lukash, White House physician, the advised her to rest and undergo massages and other treatment, according to Nessen. The back problem is not related to the chemotherapy treatment she is receiving, Nessen said. The doctor predicted she would be well by early next week.

The President also accepted the resignation of Kenneth R. Cole Jr., as executive director of the Domestic Council.

Cole had indicated that he would resign to return to pri-vate life. He will remain in his post until March to help with preparation of the President's domestic recommendations to the new Congress. The President announced that he would nominate career diplomat Thomas J. Scotes
