

Clay Shaw Hospitalized For 'Back Pain'

New Orleans

Clay Shaw's doctor and lawyer said yesterday that Shaw was hospitalized for "his annual physical" and for treatment of a recurring back pain that first developed during his military career.

Shaw, 54, accused of conspiring to kill President Kennedy, was admitted to Southern Baptist Hospital Saturday night.

The hospitalization came only one day after a three-judge panel ruled that District Attorney James Garrison had presented enough evidence to "justify bringing into play the further steps of the criminal process" against Shaw.
