Private communication april 3 1967

Pena was supposed to call on schedule arranged previously by phone following an exchange of letters. Two hours later, after the caller had given up and gone to bed, he called from the hospital. said he had been set upon from behind, had been beaten up and was in some pain as he awaited arrival of his private doctor. Said he personally had sat in on meetings among Arcacha Smith, Ferrie and deBrueys, and indicated Ferrie had other associates under federal employment. When Pena discovered Arcacha was a crook and quit the CRF, he began to have trouble with deBrueys, as his testimony shows.
