NEW ORLEANS AP -Grand jury foreman Albert Labiche said Wednesday night "no new evidence has been produced to confirm any allegation," by critics of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's Kennedy assassination investigation.

Earlier, Attorney Dean Andrews Jr., said the Clay Bertrand who sought legal counsel for accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was French Quarter bar owner Eugene C. Davis.

Davis declined comment but his attorney, G. Wray Gill, said his client had never used the name Clay Bertrand.

Andrews' claim that Davis was Bertrand came on the heels of Davis' appearance before the grand jury.

The grand jury heard nine witnesses, most of them Garrison critics, during its marathon session and Labiche said it would continue to investigate the alleged presidential assassination conspiracy which Garrison claims was hatched in New Orleans.

Garrison contends that Clay L. Shaw, 54, a wealthy retired New Orleans businessman, used the alias Clay Bertrand and conspired with Oswald and others here to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Andrews said in interviews that Shaw "never was, and never will be" Clay Bertrand. The roly-poly, jive-talking lawyer, who is under indictment for perjury in the Garrison inquiry, spent an hour with the grand jury late Wednesday.

He had no comment when he emerged from the grand jury quarters.

The grand jury kept private detective William Gurvich cooling his heels all day. Gurvich quit Monday as Garrison's chief investigator and said the district attorney doesn't have a case.

Gurvich finally got into the grand jury room after dark and later said he hadn't finished his testimony. Labiche confirmed that Gurvich would be recalled.
