Andrews also subpenaed the 12-man Orleans Parish Grand Jury, District Attorney Jim Garrison, and six of his aides. Andrews' charges grew out of Garrison's probe of what he calls a New Orleans-based plot in the slaying of President John F. Kennedy.

Bare-Bosom Duo Sprung From Jail

The two Jamaican Village waitresses who bared their bosoms in a test case for toplessness in New Orleans were free today after spending slightly more than 24 hours behind bars.

An unidentified benefactor paid the $50 fines for Yolanda Calzanda, 19, and Charlotte French, 25, last night, making it unnecessary for the girls to spend nine more days in jail.

The two pleaded guilty to obscenity charges Thursday night before Municipal Court Judge Joseph Bossetta and received $50 fines or 10 days in jail.

They had no money to pay their fines and were sent to Parish Prison, whence they were rescued last night.

The Jamaican Village was closed by police last night after its alcoholic beverage permits were surrendered. Police Superintendent Joseph I. Giarrusso said it will remain closed until proper permits are applied for and granted by the city revenue department.
