"" Andrew J. Sciambra, a trim, dark assistant district attorney who was a boxer in college, testified his report was "hastily done, incomplete, with errors in it, omissions in it, and does not reflect all that Perry Russo told me." Sciambra wrote his 3,500-word memorandum to Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison after the first official interview of Russo, the star state witness. Russo, a 27-year-old wnew Orleans book salesman, testified he attended a party at David W. However, none of this appeared in Sciambra's memorand un-which developed into a major point for those skeptical of Garrison's probe. NEW ORLEANS AP - A key witness at Clay Shaw's trial testified he was befuildled at times but remained *100 per cent sure'' he heard Shaw plotting to assassinate President John F. Keinedy.

F. Kennedy. Perry Raymond Russo, 27, insisted that his expressions of grave doubt made to various people before trial started were due to enormous mental -ressured generated by the case. 'I would like to be 1,000 per cent sure.'' said Russo. But 1,000 per cent is something you can never really reach. Does that make sense?'' No.'' said defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond. 'Then why keep pursuing it?'' snapped Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock. But Dymond concentrated to the end on whether Russo had. as he once put it, lost the ability tt distinguish 'fact from fantasy.''

Russo, ending nearly 10 hours on the stand, stepped down Tuesday. Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward A. Haggerty, who has described the trial as just another job of legal umpiring, promptly ran into a major problem. Could a dead man's testimony, given at Shaw's preliminary hearing, be read to the jury hearing the charge tyst he conspired with Lea Harvey Olswald and David W. Ferrie to murder Kennedy?

Alcock said Louisiana law permits it. Dymond said there was no case in the history of our jurisprulence where such testimony was allowed in court."

ruled for Aliock. Then he changed his mind and ordered both sides to prevare arguments on the issue. After hearing 30 minutes of argument this morning, Judge Haggerty ruled: "I will permit it." He said the testimony was alltwed on the state's plea that it was needed to show Russo was sane at the time he was questioned. The prosecution said the testimony was needed because the defense had raised the question of Russo's sanity when it queried him shout his 18 months of treatment by a psychiatrist. In his long cross examination. Dymond bore down hard on euring an interview after a June, 1967, lie detector test. Before the test, Russo had told the preliminary hearing he was at a party at Ferrie's apartment in September of 1962 and overheard the plotters. Do you deny that when you were asked if Clay Shaw was at the party, you replied, Do you want to know the truth? I don't know if he was there or not??

A-With some explanation, yes. At that time so many people' were pressuring . . it was getting hard for me to tell if he was there or if he wasn't. C-But you did tell him it was hard to tell if Shaw was there or not? A-After explaining, yes. -Did you tell Sgt. O'Donnell that if you had to give a yes or no answer as to whether Shaw was at the party, a yes or no answer as to whether Shaw was at the party, A-Frobably not in those exact words but in essence, yes. Larlier Dymond asked Russo if he had told Layton Martens, one of four men Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison has charged with perjury during the assassination probe, that the Shaw case 'is the most bltwn up and confused thing I have ever seen.'' Iss,' said Russo, wiping his brow. The legal issue cropped up over the testimony of the late Dr. Michelas Chetta. Orleans Parish county coroner. Dr. Ohetta died after testifying at Shaw's preliminary Hearing about now he administered sodium pentothal, the so-called truth serum, to Russt.

The drug was used during Russo's sessions with a hypnotist in which his recollections of the party at Ferrie's apartment were 'refreshed.'' The hypnotist enabled him to relive the occasion, he said.
