

Proceedings In Bail Bond Case Delayed

Federal District Court Judge Lansing L. Mitchell has delayed until July 1 further proceedings in Maryland National Insurance Co.'s suit to block seizure of its assets in the state.

Judge Mitchell already has issued an order temporarily restraining District Attorney Jim Garrison from moving to collect an alleged $629,000 in bond-forfeitures from Maryland National.

Garrison and Assistant DA Shirley G. Wimberly Jr., defendants in the suit by Maryland National, asked yesterday that it be dismissed. The motion to dismiss contends that the federal court lacks jurisdiction and Maryland National's complaint fails to state a claim on which relief can be granted.

Judge Mitchell yesterday delayed action on both motions until July 1.

Garrison claimed bail bond clients of Maryland National failed to show up for trial and the state should collect the $629,000.
