

The New York Times/March 12, 1975

Increased fighting across South Vietnam included North Vietnamese tank thrusts toward Tri Tam (1), some gains by Saigon units in battle for Ban Me Thuot (2), rocket attacks by Communists on air bases at Pleiku (3) and Da Nang (4) and heavy shelling and ground attacks in Quang Tri Province (5) and Thua Thien adjacent to it.