

Officials Express Doubt on U.S. Help

by David E. Rosenbaum

Washington, April 3 - .....

At his news conference in San Diego, the President said that 2,000 Vietnamese orphans in the process of being adopted by American families would be flown to the United States in the next ~~day~~ two days. ....

A State Department official said that "at present, there are no plans for further children to be brought here."

The official emphasized that virtually all the 2,000 orphans to be flown from Saigon ... were already placed with American families. The few who have not been placed, the official said, will be assigned to families from a waiting list.
