

SFChronicle
Freeze Put on
MAY 1 1975
Vietnamese
Assets in U.S.

Washington

The U.S. government has frozen all assets of Vietnamese citizens and the South Vietnam government in the United States, the Treasury Department said.

The action, standard procedure when a foreign country falls to a government the United States considers hostile, was taken to give the government recourse to some compensation should American assets be seized.

Associated Press
