Viet's Deportation
Under Discussion

United Press International

A State Department official confirmed yesterday that Canada wants to deport a former South Vietnam army general to the United States but said no negotiations were taking place this weekend.

The Canadians asked the United States on Aug. 5 to accept Gen. Dang Van Quang as a deportee from Canada, the spokesman said, adding that "the question is still under discussing between the two governments."

The spokesman declined to discuss why Canada wished to deport the general, saying only that "allegations" had been made concerning his personal conduct in Vietnam.
