

WHITE HOUSE POLLS

To the Editor:

Is there any way to check out the phoney White House public opinion poll reports? As you know, they always turn out to be in favor of the Administration.

My suspicion was further aroused when I placed a phone call to the White House last week. I said I wanted to record an opinion on Cambodia. The operator switched me to the appropriate desk and I was asked:

"Which way ya' voting?" I replied, "I am against the President's policy." Click - nothing.

A little later, I called again, received the same query and replied, "I'm in favor." The voice on the other end then said, "Oh fine and how many are in your family? Four - well that's four votes then, right?"
