

NATIONAL STRIKE FOR PEACE

October 15th

We are appealing to you because we feel you are as strongly opposed to the war in Indochina as are we. We want you to join us in calling for a National Strike for Peace on Thursday, October 15, 1970. As a suggestion take from 2 to 4 P.M. on October 15 as an appropriate and effective time to show your feelings on this issue. Or, if you wish to—use the whole day. The aim of the protest is to interrupt transportation, to close down businesses, stores and public facilities across the country—to prove to the Administration and the Congress that the vast majority of our citizens are desperately weary of this wasteful, endless war.

We have organized in the belief that the next step in anti-war protest must be a national strike. Americans who want the war to end are not alike. In fact, we ourselves differ on numerous issues, yet we must unite if we are to be effective. We believe there is a great untapped reservoir of anti-war

We propose the date of October 15th because it is a working day (Thursday) falling between the beginning of school and the Congressional elections, and because of its symbolic value as the first anniversary of the October 1969 Moratorium.

The aim of the National Strike for Peace is to inform everyone in this country that an opportunity exists to unite in a specific, non-violent protest on a designated date. We are prepared to do the following: contact friends throughout the nation, contact professional groups, labor unions, media people, and appropriate organizations. We shall advertise further in the media and issue continuing press releases. Your contribution will help.

CONTACT US. We want your response. We will keep in touch with you to let you know what we are doing. We want your suggestions about

October 15th

We are appealing to you because we feel you are as strongly opposed to the war in Indochina as are we. We want you to join us in calling for a National Strike for Peace on Thursday, October 15, 1970. As a suggestion take from 2 to 4 P.M. on October 15 as an appropriate and effective time to show your feelings on this issue. Or, if you wish to—use the whole day. The aim of the protest is to interrupt transportation, to close down businesses, stores and public facilities across the country—to prove to the Administration and the Congress that the vast majority of our citizens are desperately weary of this wasteful, endless war.

We have organized in the belief that the next step in anti-war protest must be a national strike. Americans who want the war to end are not alike. In fact, we ourselves differ on numerous issues, yet we must unite if we are to be effective. We believe there is a great untapped reservoir of anti-war feeling in this country, and the National Strike for Peace is designed to appeal to Americans no matter what their age, life-style or views on other issues. An action of this kind is uniquely suited to offer everyone a chance to protest in an effective non-violent way.

We propose the date of October 15th because it is a working day (Thursday) falling between the beginning of school and the Congressional elections, and because of its symbolic value as the first anniversary of the October 1969 Moratorium.

The aim of the National Strike for Peace is to inform everyone in this country that an opportunity exists to unite in a specific, non-violent protest on a designated date. We are prepared to do the following: contact friends throughout the nation, contact professional groups, labor unions, media people, and appropriate organizations. We shall advertise further in the media and issue continuing press releases. Your contribution will help.

CONTACT US. We want your response. We will keep in touch with you to let you know what we are doing. We want your suggestions about how you can best work with us and how we can best work with you. Time is short. People are dying in Indochina, and this Administration does not, in our opinion, seem really to care about terminating the war now. We do.

COORDINATORS:

Stephen Goodyear, M.D.

Ricki Goodyear

Judith Vigay

on this issue. Or, if you wish to—use the whole day. The aim of the protest is to interrupt transportation, to close down businesses, stores and public facilities across the country—to prove to the Administration and the Congress that the vast majority of our citizens are desperately weary of this wasteful, endless war.

We have organized in the belief that the next step in anti-war protest must be a national strike. Americans who want the war to end are not alike. In fact, we ourselves differ on numerous issues, yet we must unite if we are to be effective. We believe there is a great untapped reservoir of anti-war feeling in this country, and the National Strike for Peace is designed to appeal to Americans no matter what their age, life-style or views on other issues. An action of this kind is uniquely suited to offer everyone a chance to protest in an effective non-violent way.

The aim of the National Strike for Peace is to inform everyone in this country that an opportunity exists to unite in a specific, non-violent protest on a designated date. We are prepared to do the following: contact friends throughout the nation, contact professional groups, labor unions, media people, and appropriate organizations. We shall advertise further in the media and issue continuing press releases. Your contribution will help.

CONTACT US. We want your response. We will keep in touch with you to let you know what we are doing. We want your suggestions about how you can best work with us and how we can best work with you. Time is short. People are dying in Indochina, and this Administration does not, in our opinion, seem really to care about terminating the war now. We do.

COORDINATORS:

Stephen Goodyear, M.D.
New York, N. Y.

Ricki Goodyear
New York, N. Y.

Judith Vigay
New York, N. Y.

PARTIAL LIST OF SPONSORS:

Additional sponsors will be listed in later advertisements

Reese F. Alsop, M.D.,
Huntington, New York

Mary F. Ames,
New York, New York

Joyce Connolly,
New York, New York

Richard Creamer,
Queens, New York

Nadia Creamer,
Queens, New York

Abigail Goodyear,
Dublin, New Hampshire

William St. John Hellman,
New York, New York

Steven Karr, D.D.S.,
New York, New York

Leigh Karr,
New York, New York

John T. Kenny,
Brooklyn, New York

Ruth Levine,
Miami, Florida

Beatrice Mullarkey,
New York, New York

Sam McMurray,
New York, New York

Paul O'Dwyer,
New York, New York

David Ritchie,
New York, New York

Frank R. Sachs,
Jersey City, New Jersey

Lillian F. Sachs
Jersey City, New Jersey

Eva Stanford,
Hastings-on-Hudson, New York

Peter White,
St. James, New York

Bertram Whyns,
Bronx, New York

Junaita Whyns,
Bronx, New York

NATIONAL STRIKE FOR PEACE (NSFP)

Beaux-Art Hotel, 307 East 44th St., New York, N. Y., 10017. Phone (212) 689-3800

I wish to be counted as a supporter of the National Strike for Peace.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Phone _____

To further the cause I am enclosing a contribution of _____ Make check or M.O. payable to: National Strike for Peace (NSFP).