

Police Didn't Want Him

UPI Telephoto

Although Washington, D.C. police arrested 110 other veterans on the steps of the Supreme Court building yesterday, they refused to arrest two double amputees in wheelchairs. Two friends carried William Wyman, who lost both legs in a mine explosion, down the steps after police refused his demands to be arrested on disorderly conduct charges. Story on Page 1.

SChronicle

APR 23 1971

