

Supreme Court Impeachment Try

NEW YORK — (UPI) — A federal judge last night dismissed a suit brought by a group of servicemen seeking the impeachment of six Supreme Court justices for their refusal to review the constitutionality of the Vietnam war.

U.S. District Court Judge George Rosling ruled that his court is "without jurisdiction."

The suit claimed that the justices were part of a "conspiracy of silence" resulting in enormous death and destruction.

The suit had also named President Nixon, Vice President Agnew, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, former Attorney General John Mitchell and every member of Congress.
