

WRVR-FM Presenting Daylong Antiwar Editorial

By GEORGE GENT

Radio station WRVR-FM will present today a 15-hour editorial campaign against United States involvement in Vietnam.

The station, which will carry the special programs from 7 A.M. to 10 P.M., will turn all of its public affairs programs into an antiwar editorial. The broadcast day will be punctuated by repeated broadcasts of a basic editorial written by John Wicklein, the station's general manager.

The main points of the all-day editorial will be that this country must end the bombing of North Vietnam and the mining of its port cities, withdraw support from President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, get out of Indochina now and immediately negotiate a peace settlement.

The broadcast will include interviews with newsmen, religious leaders and peace advocates, as well as telephone comment from listeners. Air time will be provided to representatives of responsible organizations disagreeing with the station's editorial.

In explaining the all-day editorial campaign, Mr. Wicklein said:

"A single editorial can be lost in the argument, but perhaps by turning an entire day of programing into an editorial protest against the war, we can help arouse the community to act against the danger."

The monumental 7½-hour Soviet production of Tolstoy's "War and Peace," produced in 1967 and shown in the United States in 1968, will be the first of a series of "novels for television" to be shown this year on the American Broadcasting Company.

The film, which won an Oscar in 1968 as "the best foreign film," will be presented on four consecutive nights from Saturday, Aug. 12, through Tuesday, Aug. 15. An A.B.C. spokesman said the four-part film would be televised in prime time.

The picture, which reportedly cost $100-million to make and employed 120,000 Soviet and French soldiers to portray the battling armies of the Napoleonic invasion of Russia in 1805.
