

Advertisement headed "Winding Down the War" quotes unnamed American pilot: "I just go up in the blue sky, reach the coordinates on a map, drop my load, and return to base in time for a beer and lunch."