SAIGON — (UPI) — A U.S. adviser back from An Loc said today he witnessed a Communist tank massacre 100 women and children inside a church in the besieged city.

Later that day, he said, North Vietnamese artillery opened up on a hospital and killed all its occupants.

Army Capt. Harold Moffett of Nashville, Tenn., who spent 53 days in the battered provincial capital, told UPI correspondent Barney Seibert that on a day in mid-April, "I personally saw a Russian-built tank go into a church where services were being held and kill 100 people — women and children."

That night, Moffett said, wounded soldiers and civilians were moved into a "clearly marked hospital. The North Vietnamese blew it away with mortar and artillery fire and killed every last one of the people inside."

Moffett spent 53 days in An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon and under Communist siege for the past 49 days.
