(1) THE MAIN CATALOG

This catalog contains entries for government and non-government newsreels, documentaries and other information films on a variety of subjects. The earliest film date is 1894, but the material covers the period from 1915 to the early 1970's. Although this catalog represents a significant portion of the collection, it does not duplicate film entries in other catalogs in the research room.

The catalog is divided into four sequences:

1. Record Groups: This sequence displays cards numerically by record group, series and item number. It is a good place to check for films arranged by a particular agency or institution. In many instances, it is the place to find a series in chronological sequence, such as in Paramount News (200 PN), United News (208 UN), Signal Corps Combat Bulletin (111·CB), etc.
2. Titles: This alphabetical arrangement displays cards by the main film title as well as by other forms such as translation, working title, series or subtitle. Series which do not coincide with archival series (as in (1) above) can be found in their proper arrangement here (as in "This is America" arranged by issue number).
3. Credits: Corporate and personal credits are interfiled alphabetically. Check this sequence for government agencies, private sponsors, production companies, and personal names. The main entry, however, for government agency or donor is in the record group system. Credit indexing is generally limited to producer, director, photographer, writer, editor and narrator (with fewer terms for foreign productions). But outstanding music and art credits are also noted. Personal credits are frequently omitted on government films and must be gleaned from secondary sources; in these cases, names will appear in brackets on the card. If a reporter, moderator or narrator is heard but not seen on the sound track, his or her name will appear in this file; otherwise, a subject entry is made.
4. Subjects: This is the most extensive sequence. Arrangement is alphabetical by direct entry. Because of its dictionary or encyclopedia-type structure, the subject catalog allows for retrieval at various levels of specificity. Examples of headings include the following:

EDUCATION	YALE COLLEGE
AGRICULTURE	POTATO FARMING
ORDNANCE	HOWITZERS
INDUSTRY	GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION

Note the "see also" references which link terms to related or more specific terms. Personal and geographical names are also interfiled alphabetically as well as names of significant historical events. (Therefore, do not look for a "personalities" or "locations" section as in other catalogs.) Note that certain headings may be subdivided, most elaborately WORLD WAR, 1939-1945, for which there is a special handout. Many headings are subdivided by country or state:

COMMUNISM -- ITALY
FLOODS -- OHIO
AGRICULTURE -- FRANCE

Others are subdivided by name or number:

BATTLESHIPS (ARIZONA)                      AIRPLANES, MILITARY -- B-29
DAMS -- HOOVER DAM                      SPACECRAFT (GEMINI)
NATIONAL PARKS AND RESERVES -- YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK

Major buildings or historic sites are arranged under their geographical location:

NEW YORK -- NEW YORK CITY -- EMPIRE STATE BUILDING
ITALY -- ROME -- COLOSSEUM
GREAT BRITAIN -- LONDON -- WESTMINSTER ABBEY

At all times keep in mind that the general subject of a film as well as significant visual images may be indexed. Therefore expect to find terms like:

LABOR HISTORY
POVERTY
CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES

as well as:

LLOYD GEORGE, DAVID
PARADES -- CHICAGO
COMPUTERS

The volume of footage on a subject often influences the degree of a heading's specificity. Therefore, many quick shots of memorials in Washington, D.C., on a single roll might only be indexed under WASHINGTON, D.C., but an entire film on one would be found under:

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- LINCOLN MEMORIAL

Similarly, a film on many species of birds would only be indexed under BIRDS without further breakdown, but a single title on one type might be indexed under HUMMINGBIRD or EAGLE.

For an overview of headings used in the subject sequence, consult the three-volume listing located near the catalog. The diagram below identifies the elements on the card. Note that the subject tracings on the reverse side of the Record Group card indicate where copies of the entry are filed and can help you locate related material.

TITLES: We attempt to record the original release title, even if it differs from the title appearing on the film. When sources have confirmed such a disparity, we place it in brackets, preceded by an asterisk (*). If no title appears on the film and we use an unconfirmed title found on a container, shipping list, etc. we place it in brackets, preceded by the sign for number (#). If no title appears on the film or in any source, we create a title and place it in brackets.

NOTE: This applies to newer entries only. The older cards in the catalog make no such distinction. Otherwise, they are similar in format.

These sources should be exploited to the fullest extent by the members of the staff. To neglect them would certainly leave the Commission open to severe and justified criticism. Moreover, these sources will undoubtedly be used in the preparation of future books and TV-documentaries, and if they reveal new or substantiating information that we also could have found, it would be most embarrassing for the Commission.

- Q. Item 16 is of the Drew Pearson's broadcast of November 30, 1963. One reel.
- R. Item 17 consists of the 27 photographs taken by amateur photographer Phil Willis. This set includes the photographs taken by Willis around the TSBD after the assassination.
- S. Item 18 consists of the three slides taken by Robert Croft. What is interesting in this case is the Archives can only provide the second and third slide taken by Croft in color. The first slide taken by Croft can only be supplied in black and white.
- T. Item 19 contains the Nix film footage of the assassination. Permission is required from UPI before the Archives will allow copies made from these three spools of film.
- U. Item 20 consist of two copies of the Zapruder film footage of the assassination. These two copies in 8-mm format are the complete copies of the original film. Permission is required from Mr. Henry Zapruder before the Archives will allow copies made. However, the Archives will allow screening of this footage in the Archives building.*

*Question: "Since the Secret Service had a copy of the Zapruder film before Zapruder sold his film to Life, these two copies are considered government exhibits and exempt from any type of copyright." Refer to the documentation section concerning correspondence between the Secret Service and Life regarding the Zapruder film.

Films and Photographs: Speculations and Theories

The following films and photographs have been speculated by critics to contain evidence of conspiracy in the assassination of President Kennedy. The majority of the photographic material in question comes from film footage shot in Dealey Plaza. Evidence ranging from one or more gunmen on the grassy knoll, to conspirators in Dealey Plaza and more than one individual on the 6th floor of the Texas School Book Depository at the time of the assassination. There is also film footage taken prior to Kennedy's visit to Dallas, which some have claimed showed the beginning of a conspiracy.

This section lists the various theories but does not verify the existence of these claims, nor by any means, support these claims. This listing is only to help assist the researcher to cross-reference the photographic material for the researcher. An example would be, "In which photograph does the dogman appear?" Actually, this man appears in at least two photographs, Hugh Betzner #3 and Phil Willis #5.

The list below is of films and photographs taken, in alphabetic order, from which these theories have arisen.
