

Alleged Plot

Chile to Probe CIA-ITT Link

SFChronicle

Santiago, Chile

The Chilean Congress decided yesterday to investigate alleged activities of the United States Central Intelligence Agency and the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. designed to keep President Salvador Allende from taking office in 1970.

The investigation, to be conducted in the Chamber of Deputies, was called for by a majority in both houses after Minister of Interior Hernan del Canto reported on an alleged plot by retired military officers and a small, rightwing opposition party to overthrow Allende last week.

The anti-Marxist opposition — led by the Christian Democratic and National parties, which controls the Congress, has questioned the evidence the government has presented on both the CIA activities and on the plot last week.

The Christian Democrats announced that in protest they will organize a march open to "all democratic parties" that will also serve to demonstrate opposition to the refusal by Allende's leftwing government to authorize a march by women ten days ago and a march by private organizations Tuesday.
