

Chile Takes Fight With I.T.T. to U.N. Unit

By JUAN de ONIS

Special to The New York Times

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 13—President Salvador Allende Gossens put before a United Nations economic conference of 161 nations today his quarrel with the International Telephone and Telegraph Company and United States copper corporations.

Addressing the opening session of the third United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, Dr. Allende called for condemnation of American multinational corporations that he said had sought to "upset the normal functioning" of the Government and "its economic relations with the rest of the world."

He accused, the American copper companies whose properties here have been nationalized, in most cases without compensation, of exercising pressure on the United States Government to "prevent Chile from obtaining new terms and new time limits for the payment of external debt."

Virtual Extortion Seen

The United States is the major creditor among the Western countries from which Chile has been seeking a three-year postponement of payment on debts totaling $1.2-billion. The negotiations, which began in December, resume next week in Paris.

The failure to obtain debt relief from the American, Western European and Japanese creditors would amount to virtual extortion, Dr. Allende said.

The New York Times/Renato Perez

President Salvador Allende Gossens, right, of Chile and Kurt Waldheim, United Nations Secretary General, during yesterday's U.N. economic conference in Santiago.

The major copper companies, Anaconda and Kennecott, whose properties with a book value of more than $600-million were nationalized last year, regard the take-over without compensation as confiscation. A special five-member tribunal, appointed by Dr. Allende to review the nationalization, is weighing an appeal by the concerns against a ruling by Dr. Allende charging $724-million in "excess profits" against book value.

Dr. Allende said the control of international telecommunications by American corporations such as I.T.T. posed "a formidable danger" that developing countries would be flooded by information and publicity directed from abroad through satellite transmissions.

I.T.T., whose Chile Telephone Company has been put under state administration, is the major target of a Government campaign designed to point up foreign intervention in Chilean politics.

Shift on Money Policy Urged

Among those listening to Dr. Allende were the members of the United States delegation, headed by John D. Irwin 2d, Under Secretary of State.

On international issues, Dr.

Allende said that the developed countries, could no longer run world monetary policies without giving socialist and developing countries a direct voice.

He called for negotiations in the framework of the United Nations trade group for a more equitable system of international trade through which developing countries would obtain better prices, freer access to developed markets and help on modern technology.

Secretary General Waldheim, the other speaker at the inaugural session, said that "in the two crucial fields of monetary reform and of primary commodities, in particular, the interests of the poorer countries have not yet been duly taken into account."