
Miami Beach Is Asked For Decision on G.O.P.

Special to The New York Times

MIAMI BEACH, April 27
—The Republican party asked the Miami Beach City Council today to make up its mind by 5 P.M. tomorrow whether it wants to invite the party to hold its national convention here.

The request made, at the end of a meeting of city and county officials and community leaders, by Richard L. Herman, vice chairman of the Republican committee on arrangements. He denied it was an ultimatum. The Republican National Committee is scheduled to meet in Washington on May 5 and 6 on the proposed shift from San Diego.
