Silent in Berrigan Case, Nun Is Upheld on Appeal

By DONALD JANSON MAY 2 9 1971

PHILADELPHIA, May 28- | She was jailed in January for as a co-conspirator but not a York, appealed, and a three-defendant, may not be required judge panel ruled against her. to testify before the investigating grand jury in Harrisburg, Continued on Page 7, Column 3 mation obtained through illegal wiretapping.

The ruling will affect several other persons who have been subpoenaed as witnesses but have refused to testify.

Father Berrigan and seven others are charged with con-spiring to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser, and to commit other antiwar acts. Sister Jogues was one of the Most witnesses subpoenaed to testify in the continuing investi-

The Government suffered an contempt of court by Federal other setback today in its con-District Judge R. Dixon Herman other setback today in its conspiracy case against the Rev.
Philip F. Berrigan and others.
The United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit

The United States Court of cution. The 52-year-old nun, a ruled here in a 5-to-2 decision member of the Order of the that Sister Jogues Egan, named Sacred Heart of Mary in New

THE NEW YORK TIMES, SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1971

COURT BACKS NUN IN BERRIGAN CASE

Judge Adams noted that the person and home not be im-Omnibus Crime Control Act of properly searched and if it is 1968 barred questioning anyone before a grand jury if the inbefore a grand jury if the in-terrogation was based on elec-tronic surveillance conducted without a warrant.

It noted that Sister Jogues was not complaining of viola-tions of the Fifth Amendment, but of the Fourth.

without a warrant.

Contention Is Rejected
The court rejected the Government said been authorized by court or obtained from illegal wiretapping and violated her constitutional right to privacy.

Judge Arlin M. Adams noted, in a 36-page majority opinion, that the Government had never suggested that it did not tapher telephone, or that any electronic surveillance used had been authorized by court order.

The appeals court vacated the content judgment and remanded her case to the district court for a hearing to determine whether this happeal to the Supreme Court.

Sister Jogues had refused to testify on the ground that the questions put to her in Harrisburg stemmed from illegal wiretapping and violated her constitutional right to privacy.

Judge Arlin M. Adams noted, in a 36-page majority opinion, that the Government had never suggested that it did not tapher telephone, or that any electronic surveillance used had been authorized by court orded for the investigation and violated her constitutional right to privacy.

The appeals court vacated the contempt judgment and remanded her case to the district court for a hearing to determine whether this happened would slow the grand to determine whether this happened would slow the grand in a 36-page majority opinion, that the Government to sex, in effect, we may have invaded by court orded to contempt for law. To declare that the Government could not use that to excuse invasion of privacy.

"It is an inadequate response, the opinion said, "the red that the Government to say, in effect, we may have invaded by our privacy."

The court said immanity promptose the conviction of a conviction of the privacy.

The provided the conviction of the privacy or the court said immanity promptose the privacy.

The court said the court said the court said the conviction of a conviction of the privacy.

The court said interest in preventing the Government from computation, the court said the fourth had the court said the court said the court said the court said the conviction of the priv