Martha's Many Skills

Political commentator Martha Mitchell, who once delighted television audiences by giving an address in Swahili, demonstrated her talents as a dairy maid for another television audience yesterday. The occasion was a visit to the taping of the Monday Mike Douglas Show by this year's American Dairy Princess. The wife of Attorney General John Mitchell, smiling confidently as a handler steadied the cow, said she had learned how when she was a child and her grandmother owned a farm. Her only trouble yesterday: hitting the bucket.
