NYTimes

71

JUL 2 9 1971

CL

"the

INDIENST SE OTESTS EBBI

Feel They Are Heard

Administration Praised

Mr. Kleindienst attributed the widespread use of drugs to the widespread use of drugs to the widespread use of drugs to the frustrations of young people re-nam and social problems at home. He said the war had been "badly explained." "We are sending people off to fight without understanding why they are going," he as-serted, "and we are not asking many sacrifices from those who are left behind." In his speech, titled "The Programs and Priorities of the said the Nixon Administration Justice Department in the is anything but open to mass. Seventies," Mr. Kleindienst demonstrations in the capital-praised the way this Adminis-Several of them called the Adtration had handled the mass ministration's handling of the protest demonstrations in Mayday protests here last May Mitchell Aide Says Young Washington. He said that more 'repressive.' Thousands were protesters came to Washington arrested at that time and conto protest under the Nixon fined in temporary jails. Administration than under any Mr. Kleindienst said

C

Mr. Kleindienst said

Repression Charged He said the Administration

Special to The New York Times WASHINGTON, July 28— Deputy Attorney General Rich ard G. Kleindienst said today that he thought the wave of youthful protest was subsiding "because our young people feel they are being heard." Mr. Kleindienst also told a Rotary Club luncheon at the Hotel Washington that Presi-dent Nixon regarded the drug problem "as second only to war and neace." Administration Praised Mr. Kleindienst attributed A Rotarian asked him why this Administration inherited— ("more interest, particularly by young people, in some of the Hotel Washington that Presi-dent Nixon regarded the drug problem "as second only to war and neace." Administration Praised Mr. Kleindienst attributed Mr. Kleindienst attribut

Mr. Kleindienst identified the department's priorities as anti-trust enforcement, civil rights, organized crime and drugs.